

ABSTRACT

An audio and video reproduction apparatus performing variable seed reproduction is provided. In the apparatus, a video output controlling device controls an output of a decoded video signal. An audio output controlling device controls an output of a decoded audio signal. Then, a video/audio signal synchronization controlling device controls the video output controlling device so that a decoded video signal whose position on a time axis is coincident with that of the decoded audio signal is outputted in synchronism with the decoded audio signal.